JAPANESE WAYS.

An American manufacturer, writing from Japan, says that those alarmists who would make the world believe that the Japanese can do everything, don't know what they are talking about, and that the people of the Flowery Land, unless they change their entire nature, or at all events, their methods, can never become formidable commercial rivals with any civilized power. The real fact is that the Japanese do nothing; they only half do it, and therein lies the cause of their failure. The Jap thinks of nothing but the present; of what he can make now, and how by making his commodities a little inferior he can add a few more cents to his profit. If he has to pay more for his labor, the idea of economy, or the bold declaration that he can no longer sell at the original price never strikes him, but he expends the whole of his ingenuity in trying to diminish the quality without any loss in the appearance. There is no such thing as standard quality you are asked to pay for. So much is this so in Japan, that a man seldom buys an article without unwrapping and examining it on the spot.

The correspondent continues: "The Japanese mind is so small that it is difficult to weigh it with American scales; in fact, it may be said that it is made of trifles, and it is the attention, the labored attention the Jap gives to those trifles which makes him incapable of ever becoming anything more than a unit in whatever he may be concerned in. As an illustration of what I mean, I will give examples which are of daily occurrence. You want to buy an article, and you ask how much it is. The answer is, say, 1 cent. Then you ask how much the articles are by the dozen, fully expecting that you will get them for 10 cents. You are not a little amazed when the merchant tells you 13 cents per dozen. You get mad, call the man a fool, and insist that you ought to get a reduction by taking a quantity. Not so with the Jap; that is not his way of doing business. If you take one, he reasons, that is 1 cent, but if you take a dozen, he will have to count them, and then it will be 13 cents. It is the same with the manufacturer. You give him an order for a hundred of a kind, and then wish to make it a thousand. Immediately he demands an advance in the price. Should he, however, reluctantly agree to take the increased order at the original price, you will probably get the first hundred articles fairly up to sample, but as the delivery goes on the quality is sure to fall off. And this smallness is not confined to small people, it permeates the whole country, and one of the leading banks advertises that it allows 4.885 per cent. interest on current accounts and 5.115 per cent. on savings bank deposits."

On July 9 the Solomonville stage was robbed of $1000 in silver. Suspicion rested on the driver, who claimed that the stage broke down and he left to obtain aid in repairing it. On his return the money was missing, and on arrival at Solomonville he reported the loss. Last week the father of the stage driver induced his son to tell where the money was hid, and accompanied by the sheriff, he directed the way to a point about seven miles from Globe, where under a mesquite bush the money was found, not a dollar missing. He will be prosecuted for the crime, however.

SMELTER ON WHEELS.

They Will Visit Arizona and Enliven Mining Interests.

The Railway Gold Mining company, with headquarters at Chicago, Ill., will visit Prescott. The great transcontinental railroad companies are members of the Railway Gold Mining company, as well as other rich corporations. Under date of Chicago, Aug. 6th, the president of the Railway Gold Mining company writes to Professor Blandy of the Prescott mining exchange that the Bowman syndicate's milling car plant will be in Prescott about September 1st next in the interest of the Santa Fe Gold Mining and Milling company, and will be there with a view of purchasing one or many gold properties. The cars will be run to any specified railroad point in good mining districts. The first car will contain amalgamation and concentration plants, but the company can and will, if necessary, send out special cars, covering all forms of lixiviation, chlorination, cyanide, Russell and other processes; also a car for smelting, a car containing a diamond drill outfit, a car containing an assay outfit; the whole accompanied by a mining expert and business manager. Along with this letter to the secretary of the Prescott mining exchange came a blue print showing the workings of these various processes in the cars. The letter stated that the company expected to deal in mines located not more than twenty miles distant from the railroad. In the letter is a long statement or proposition as to the terms on which the company proposes to test the ores from these mines. Those interested can more fully inform themselves by communicating with Professor Blandy, secretary of the Prescott mining exchange. This idea of a complete ore reduction plant on wheels is commendable from a prospecting standpoint, for it can come and go here and there and locate itself where it will do the most good to all parties interested.

The True Remedy.

W. M. Repine, editor Tiskilwa, Ill., "Chief," says: "We won't keep house without Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds. Experimented with many others, but never got the true remedy until we used Dr. King's New Discovery. No other remedy can take its place in our home, as in it we have a certain and sure cure for coughs, colds, whooping cough, etc." It is idle to experiment with other remedies, even if they are urged on you as just as good as Dr. King's New Discovery. They are not as good, because this remedy has a record of cures and besides is guaranteed. It never fails to satisfy. Trial bottles free at Dr. D. J. Brannen's drug store.

At a meeting of the board of control Monday the matter of the reform school was definitely settled. The contract made by Governor Franklin and T. J. Wolfley, citizen member of the board of control, in letting a contract to Architect McGinnis to remodel the reform school and convert it into a branch asylum, was revoked and Architect McGinnis was notified. The matter will now take a rest until there is more money in the treasury to complete the building.—Gazette.

It is always gratifying to receive testimonials for Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy, and when the endorsement is from a physician is especially so. "There is no more satisfactory or effective remedy than Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy," writes Dr. E. E. Robey, physician and pharmacist, of Olney, Mo.; and as he has used the Remedy in his own family and sold it in his drug store for six years, he should certainly know. For sale by D. J.
